Charlotte Symphony Presents Carmina Burana February 24 & 25

February 15, 2012- It is both sacred and profane. It is of romantic love and carnal desire. Primitive, passionate and powerful, the Charlotte Symphony presents Carl Orff's ecstatic piece of love, springtime and passion.

On February 24th and 25th at 7:30 p.m. you can enjoy in the work in a new way, while sipping cocktails and sampling hors d'oeuvre in the Knight Theater. Enjoy a beverage while listening to the explosive combination of the Oratorio Singers and Charlotte Symphony, led by Conductor Scott Allen Jarrett.

Part of the innovative KnightSounds series, offering a modern take on the concert-going experience, listeners can participate in a daring musical experience to stimulate and delight the senses.

After the concert, mingle in the lobby while enjoying Olde Mecklenburg Brewery beer samples. Listen to the Charlotte Waites perform the jolly sounds of Renaissance tavern music and have your fortune told by a mystic.

Don't miss this exciting, engaging opportunity to experience a timeless work in a new way as the Charlotte Oratorio Singers, Charlotte Children's Choir, the Charlotte Symphony and three soloists combine forces to present gripping performances of this massive work.

Tickets start at $39 and are available by calling the Charlotte Symphony Ticket Office at (704) 972-2000, or at www.charlottesymphony.org.
