MAY 4, 2015 | CHARLOTTE, NC – The Charlotte Symphony’s annual outdoor Summer Pops Series opens on Sunday, June 7.

A Charlotte tradition since 1983, Summer Pops brings families and friends from across the community together for affordable, outdoor symphonic concerts. These family-friendly events will occur on four consecutive Sundays in June – June 7, 14, 21, and 28 – plus a special “Celebrate America” concert with fireworks on Friday, July 3.

Spirited conductor Albert-George Schram will lead the orchestra (and the audience) through all five programs.

Gates open at 5 p.m., prelude performances begin at 7 p.m., and the Charlotte Symphony performs at 8:15 p.m. Tickets for the June concerts are $12; July 3 tickets are $16; Summer Passes for all five programs are $48 (all prices are inclusive of applicable NC state taxes).

The 2015 Summer Pops programs are as follows:

Sunday, June 7: Summer Pops: Opening Night

Sunday, June 14: Tchaikovsky Spectacular

Sunday, June 21: A Night at the Movies

Sunday, June 28: Hot Spanish Nights

Friday, July 3: Celebrate America

The Charlotte Symphony will also perform several Summer Pops programs in neighboring communities, including Matthews, Pineville, Cornelius, and Kannapolis.
